Criticises Al Smith

Colonel Theodore Roosevelt recently reaffirmed his cha gad made at the republican state convention in Rochester last week against Tammany Hall and against Governor Alfred E. Smith because of the support of that organization.

Addressing a republican club meeting, he reiterated his accusation in regard to a non-partisan judiciary, state finances, water power and vice conditions in the state capital.

Without withdrawing his criticism of the governor, Colonel Roosevelt explained that when he said in Rochester "A man is judged by the company he keeps, and though we do not question the personal integrity of Governor Smith, he is sponsored and backed by Tammany Hall," he meant just that. He also charged that while Albany was charged with vice, the governor ignored conditions and dispatched inquisitors to unearth evil in remote republican counties."

The politicians have the utmost faith in the ability of Gov. Smith and his availability as a presidential candidate of the Democratic party, and we admit that the party leaders will be able to secure uninstructed delegates enough to put over the Governor's nomination, after a few favorite sons get a complimentary vote.

What a pity that the party of Jefferson will put aside its statesmen for a conspicuous politician of the stripe of Gov. Smith.

Darlington Heights

School is progressing nicely at this place, we feel very proud over our new building. Our school bus is run by Mr. Dayton Dillon, and the other by Mr. O. H. Towler.

Autumn is here with the leaves all in yellow, purple and gold. It reminds us that winter is approaching with its wind, sleet and snow and yet we love these changes and have much to be thankful for as the seasons come and go.

The Baker family are contemplating on having a reunion in the near future at the home of the late Samuel S. Baker, near Pamplin. This home was built more than two hundred years ago. Many of them are looking forward with much pleasure as they have never visited this place.

Mrs. J. T. Baker, Mrs. Chap Harvey and Mrs. Sam Thackston were entertained in the home of Mrs. D. A. Maloney on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Baker will attend the Richmond Fair this week and while there will visit their daughter, Miss Josephine, who is nursing at Stuart Circle Hospital.

Miss Josephine Anderson is engaged as a stenographer for Mr. McSwain at Charlotte C. H.

Mrs. Joe Bell, and children, have returned home after spending some time with her mother, Mrs. Johnson, of Beaver Dam, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Baker, of Drakes Branch, were visitors in the home of S. H. Thackston on Sunday.

Miss Katie Anderson is visiting her sister, Mrs. Guthrie Allen, of Max Meadow, Va. Mrs. Allen has been ill for some time.

Mrs. H. H. Dobbins will entertain the Bethlehem Auxiliary on Wednesday of this week.

Misses Terrell Harvey and Elizabeth Calvert and Billy Harvey were the guests of Curtis Thackston on Wednesday night.

Miss Virginia Maloney has a music class at Darlington Hgts We feel very fortunate in securing Miss Maloney for this work

The rain which is falling here now was much needed as the late gardens were burning up. Most of the tabacco has been cut and farmers are now busy preparing land for wheat etc.

Mr. Willie Robertson, and wife, of Richmond, were visitors in the home of Mr. Chap Harvey on Sunday.

Mr. Marshall Anderson, and family, will move to Farmville this Fall. We hate to give up these good people.

State Fair Great Event

RICHMOND—"Farmers are having the finest season in years," said W. C. Saunders, manager of the Virginia State Fair, "and all indications point to the greatest State Fair in history."

The picture shows a part of the exhibit at the 1926 Fair of Norfolk County, representing a miniature farm and showing the money crops of the country. Nineteen counties have made application for space for similar exhibits at this year's Fair and with bumper crops reported in all sections, the agricultural department will surpass anything seen in the past.

Entries now indicate that the live stock show this year will also go far ahead of last year's fine exposition, at which the magnificent shorthorn

Prizes have been increased in the boys' and girls' club departments. In fact, the junior department will be a good sized fair in itself, with cash premiums and scholarships amounting to about $10,000.

The picture below was snapped in one of the buildings that especially attracted the ladies and children last year—the Cat Show. This will be a feature again this year, with scores of beautiful felines of every known breed.

There will also be a Dog Show, held in a building to itself, under the direction of the American Kennel Clubs, as well as enlarged departments devoted to poultry, water fowl and pet stock of all kinds.

Always one of the outstanding features of the State Fair, the fireworks this season will be presented on a more costly and elaborate scale than ever before, and each evening's pre-

PARALYSIS SPREAD ALARMS SCIENCE

Increase Seen as Threat of Epidemic.

Washington.—Are we on the verge of another infantile paralysis epidemic like that of 1916? Late summer and early fall are the times when this little understood disease is most prevalent, but the number of cases reported to the United States public health service in the last few weeks have shown a decided gain over those reported for the same period last year.

The figures for the week ending August 6 show 190 cases as opposed to only 69 for the corresponding week of 1926. Ohio reports several widely scattered cases, while California has 60 for one week alone.

Like influenza, poliomyelitis, as infantile paralysis is known to medical men, is one of the unfinished problems on which scientists are still hard at work. It is believed to be caused by a filterable virus, which is spread by contact with articles that have been touched by the infected person. From the way in which epidemics have spread in the past it is thought that it must be transferred either by animals or human carriers, but at this time little has been definitely established on this point.

In the big epidemic in New York city that occurred eleven years ago it was clearly shown that prompt hospitalization of all cases that could be safely moved checked the spread of the disease more effectively than any other measure. Another outstanding point that emerged from this experience was the fact that isolation of groups of children from contact with other children or adults, even when carried out in the midst of areas where the disease was prevalent, sufficed to protect almost absolutely from infection.

At the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research attempts have been made to immunize monkeys to poliomyelitis but the results were too variable to be useful.

French workers have tried to use pieces of dried spinal cord after the same procedure as that followed in rabies treatment, but the results were too uncertain to be practical. Dr. E. C. Rosenow of the Mayo clinic has used an antistreptococcus serum to treat acute cases, but this has not received any general application.

Ship 500,000 Canaries a Year From Germany

Berlin.—Germany, the world's market for canary birds, annually ships about 500,000 of the little feathered warblers to America.

Since the beginning of the Sixteenth century, when these songsters were brought from the Canary Islands, they have been carefully and extensively bred in Germany. Within the last century the "Harzer rollers" in the Harz mountains have acquired worldwide fame.

Through careful breeding the original green color of the birds has been changed to a bright yellow, while incessant and careful training has markedly enhanced their original marvelous vocal qualities.

The features of the canary-bird exhibitions regularly held in Berlin are the "song tournaments," at which the birds' vocal abilities are carefully appraised by expert breeders, who have made the surprising discovery that the green birds—resembling in color their wild tropical progenitors—are frequently better singers than their yellow brethren.

Sliding Doors Coming Back in Paris Homes

Paris.—Sliding doors have been built throughout in a dozen modern homes by a Parisian architect. His view is that the hinged door is an antiquated waster of space. This view has found a good deal of support.

Those commenting on the idea express surprise that people never have rebelled against the swinging door.

"How ridiculous it is," says one, "to have to step backward to open or close a door!"

The old-fashioned door destroys the harmony of a room if left open at right angles to the wall, says another, and it is ugly and kills good wall space if it is swung back against the wall."

World Leisure Seen "When Atom Is Split"

London.—In half a century or so hardly anyone will have any work to do, says Dr. Percy Buck, professor of music in the University of London.

"In 50 years from now every human being will have a vast amount of leisure on his hands," explained Doctor Buck to the university teachers attending the summer vacation lecture course.

"If once the atom is split—and that is bound to happen in a certain number of years—there will be no need for coal, gas, electric light, steam or anything else like that. Think of it! We will be able to run a train from London to Edinburgh for half a penny, and to light the whole of London or New York for less than one single penny."

Sex Cost Boy $5,000

New York—Harry Alba Seggerman does not know it yet, but it cost him $5,000 to be a boy. Frederick K. Seggerman, who died a few weeks ago, left a will stipulating that his prospective grandchild should have a legacy of $10,000 if a girl, and half that amount if a boy. Harry has just arrived.

Mother Love Wins

Newark, N. J.—Millions and mansions are little compared with a mother's love. A wealthy uncle and aunt wished to adopt Sally Miles, thirteen, whose parents are divorced. Judge Walter Van Riper denied permission.

DEVICE RESTORES FLOW OF BLOOD

Will Renew Circulation, Is Doctor's Claim

Vienna.—According to a Vienna telegram a Viennese doctor has invented an apparatus which, while it has not yet succeeded in awakening the dead, has nevertheless induced circulation of the blood in the body of a person dead for some hours. The apparatus is electrically driven and is applied to the stomach.

The massage affected by means of the machine causes the muscles and blood vessels of the stomach to vibrate sufficiently to re-establish circulation. Doctor Eisenger, the inventor, had hitherto only applied his invention to persons who were almost dead as the result of asphyxiation or drowning, and who were in need of artificial respiration.

Now, however, it has been tried on a person dead for two hours. A woman of 40, who fell from a third-floor window, died on her way to the hospital. Two hours after death the apparatus was set in motion. A liter of salt water was injected in the arm. After half an hour the blood began to circulate under the skin; the pulse beat and the cheeks showed that in the veins flowing not the red blood of a living person but the blue blood of the dead. It is true there was no sign of consciousness, but that is not the object of Doctor Eisenmenger's invention, which is designed simply to re-establish circulation of the blood.

In the case of a person who is apparently dead, if both artificial respiration and circulation of the blood by the new method are resorted to, the chances of success should be increased. A powerful drug might also be added to the saline solution injected. Further experiments are to be made with artificial respiration and an injection of adrenaline administered at the same time as the massage is applied, and there is great curiosity in Vienna as to the results.

London Built on Sand, News Scares Populace

London.—London has discovered that its houses be builded upon the sand. Not since the German air raids of ten years ago has there been such trepidation over the possibility of a catastrophe.

In the last few weeks a half dozen buildings large parts of their walls have crumbled and fallen to the ground, great holes have opened in streets and tremendous cavity was found beneath Piccadilly, which is in course of reconstruction.

London builders have made application for a revision of the standard form of agreement between builders and architects, and the national physical laboratory is be studying the effects of vibration on buildings.

The top thirty feet of London's surface ground is composed of shifting strata in which endless subterranean burrowings has gone on and on. Underground London is full of streams and water has been drained from one place to another in such a way that the water-bearing strata is constantly shifting, and making hidden chasms.

Buried Treasure Hunt Plan of Morgan's Kin

San Francisco.—Louis Morgan, descendant of Sir Henry Morgan, notorious pirate of the Seventeenth century, recently was preparing to go to Central America in search of loot Sir Henry's followers carried after they had sacked the city of Panama in 1671, and were said by tradition to have buried on a bayou near Darien bay in the present republic of Panama.

Morgan, son of Frank Pierce Morgan, the district attorney of Victoria, Texas, and Capt. A. Pearson, veteran skipper on both the Atlantic and the Pacific, have joined in the venture. The men have launched the 40-foot auxiliary launch Saxon for the voyage.

The treasure hunt will be guided by a map reputed to have been left by Sir Henry Morgan himself.

Stops the Hurry

New York.—It will be much more difficult for young folks to marry in a hurry in this state. Under a new law all under twenty-one must wait five days before getting licenses.

Beheading Ax That Never Worked, Relic

London. — Visitors to the British home office in Whitehall still see a relic of the Cato street conspiracy in 1820 in a beheading ax which is kept in a glass case.

The ax has never beheaded anyone, but it was made to behead the conspirators. The five persons convicted were sentenced to be beheaded in the ordinary way, but the authorities decided to hang them first and not take any chances. The beheading was done ... public immediately afterward on the scaffold. It was performed with a surgeon's amputating knife by a masked "resurrection man" who was paid 20 guineas for his services.

PROPERLY FED COWS PRODUCE MORE MILK

A properly fed cow giving her maximum amount of milk will return about 48% of the feed she eats in milk. The remaining 52% is used in maintaining her body.

The right quality and quantity of the various food elements—protein, carbohydrates and fat are necessary if we wish to get maximum milk production from our cows.

The cow has no part in the composition of her milk. If a cow is underfed in any of the different food elements the milk pail will show the loss.

GLOBE MILK PRODUCER is a thoroughly mixed, carefully balanced, palatable carrier of protein and minerals for supplementing your home grown grains. Use 1-2 Globe Milk Producer and 1-2 ground Corn, Oats or Barley and keep a record of the milk production and feed cost.

Williams Trial

A large crowd attended Court to hear the Finley Williams murder trial, which got under way Monday before Judge Hutcheson here. Attorney Taylor Thompson, of Farmville, appeared for the prisoner and Col. Flood for the Commonwealth. The young prisoner of 23 years' shouldered the whole affair and said he shot W. T. Hurt his fellow-workman accidentally. His various stories about the affair, his youth, his friendship for Hurt seemed to have done him no harm. He was given four years in the penitentiary and with good behavior he will only have 30 months to serve. He is reported ta have been highly pleased over the light verdict.

Fair News

"Hold your Elephants—the Horses are Coming."

Many horses will be shown at the coming Appomattox County Fair, Appomattox, October 12 to 15, that fair officials are thinking seriously of adopting the above slogan to advertise the show.

For, contrary to general belief, a revival of interest in the horse industry is taking place everywhere. Saddle, harness and draft horses are becoming more poular every day as will be evidenced by the entry at the show.

Acording to Chairman W. E. Smith, there is a keen demand for draft horses today. To encourage breeding of bigger and better draft horses in this locality the fair management is offering liberal premiums for the more popular breeds, including Standard Bred, Gaited Saddle Horses, Half-Bred or Less than Pure-Bred Draft Horses, Mule Colts, Stallions and Racing horses.

"The automobile, truck and tractor can do many things efficiently and economically," says Mr. Smith, "but the horse is the only machine that the farmer can rely on to do all kinds of work. A stable of brood mares will not only do all or much of the work on the farm, but more than pay their way with the colts raised by them. From the time a colt is three years old, it will pay its way with the work it will do. If sold, the greater part of the sale price may be considered profit."

Entries in the horse department close October 11th.

Harness horse races every bit as thrilling as the great chariot race scene in Ben Hur will feature the speed program to be staged at the coming Appomattox County Fair, Appomattox, October 12 to 15.

With the greatest field of trotters and pacers ever entered in a local meet assured, fair officials are making preparations to accomodate capacity crowds each day. Three afternoons have been set aside for the horsemen and a well balanced card will be presented each afternoon.

Secretary Crawley reports that all of the leading stables now racing over the short-ship circuit of which the Appomattox Fair is a member will compete in the local races. In addition, a number of other fast horses are coming from distant tracks, thus assuring the keenest kind of competition.

Everything possible will be done to have the fair track in tiptop shape for fast racing. Much work already has been done on the track. A number of horses are being worked there daily, and trainers report themselves as well pleased with the condition of the track.

The fair is offering $800 in purses for this year's harness race program. Entry blanks and conditions governing the races have been sent out. Any one desiring further information can do so by getting in touch with the secretary's office.

A real menagerie will be on display at the Appomattox County Fair, Appomattox, Oct. 12 to 15.

It will be one in which all persons, 'large or small will be interested.

True, wild lions and leopards will be conspicious by their absence, but in their places will be found the blue-bloods of cattle, horse, swine and poultry worlds.

For several years officials of the fair have been co-operating with various breed organizations in campaigns to improve the livestock on the farms in this locality. That these campaigns have borne fruit is best answered by the record-breaking number of entries recovered by the management in all divisions of its livestock show.

Much interest attaches itself, especially to the cattle show, which promises to bring out the keenest kind of competition in years. So many fine animals have been entered that the judges are expected to have their hands full in selecting the winners. All of the popular breeds will be shown in both the dairy and beef divisions.

A revival of interest also has been manifested in the horse department. The swine too, will be larger than in former years. The poultry show will feature a feathered chorus of crowing and cackling birds that will be heard on all parts of the grounds.

Youngsters in their teens will vie with their elders for premier honors in several of the contests. There are a number of boys who have trained in club work, who will enter animals in the cattle and pig contests. While they may be young in years, they are veterans of the show ring and visitors will be surprised when they see how these youngsters conduct themselves in the show ring.

You need never change your oil if you own a Buick

Tests by Buick at General Motors Proving Ground and by Buick owners in every section of the world—under every climatic condition—have proved that you need never change your oil if you own a Buick. Replenishments and inspection of the Buick oil-filter only are required. This is still another Buick contribution to the economy and efficiency of motor car operation . . . another indication of Buick's greater value.
